Course Materials Needed: None

Learning Environment Expectations: All students are expected conduct themselves in a mature and respectful manner. This classroom follows the guidelines of the Kirkwood Student Handbook concerning discrimination and sexual harassment.

Please do not engage in private conversations during class. It is very rude to me and to your classmates.

Cell Phone Policy – No cell phones allowed at any time for any reason. First violation, you will be excused from class for the day. Second time, you will be excused and will not be allowed to return to class until you have talked with the Dean.
Tardiness

- If you are late to class, please come in quietly and take a seat near the door. If you feel that you must explain or apologize to me, please wait until break or after class.

Absences

- It will be very difficult for you to succeed in this class if you do not attend and/or do not participate.
- Homework is due at the beginning of class. In-class Assignments are due by the end of class. You may put late homework in my box at the front desk. Please make use of the timeclock, stamping either the work or a piece of paper that you attach to it with the time and date you submitted it. You may also email homework to me. 10% will be deducted for each CALENDAR DAY that homework is late.
- I will take attendance at each meeting. If you sleep in class, you will be counted absent.
- There are many in-class activities and may be some field trips. These activities will make up a large part of your grade. If you are not in attendance, “make-up” of these activities will obviously be unavailable and so you will not receive any points for them.
- Computers in the AHT building may only be used by students to update animal health records in Avimark. If you need to use a computer for anything other than updating animal records, please use either your personal laptop or visit one of the many computer labs on campus.

WHAT IF I MISS A TEST????
If an exam is missed or is going to be missed you must contact me via e-mail, voicemail, or in person within 24 hours of the missed exam.

For example, if you have a flat tire on the way to the test and miss it, you have until the next day at 11 a.m. to send an email to me or leave me a voicemail on my cell phone or home phone to tell me what happened. If I do not hear from you by then, you will be given a zero on the test. Once I hear from you, it is my decision whether your reason for missing the exam warrants allowing you to take a make-up exam. If I do not deem the excuse satisfactory, a 0 (zero) will be assigned as the score. I may require proof of the validity of the reason for the missed exam. This may include, but is not limited to, funeral notice, doctors’ letter verifying treatment, traffic citation, etc. The make-up exam may be essay in nature and may be given in the Test Center in Linn Hall. You will have no more than one week from the time of the scheduled test to make up the exam.

Productive Classroom Learning Environment:

We believe that the best learning takes place in an environment where faculty and students exhibit trust and mutual respect.

Students promote trust by preparing honest and thoughtful work, and by expecting evaluation based on performance. Faculty promote trust by setting clear guidelines for assignments and evaluations, providing timely honest feedback, and by assigning bias-free grades.

Students show respect by being prepared and attending class on time, by paying attention, contributing to discussions, listening respectfully to others’ points of view, meeting deadlines, and by striving for their best performance. Faculty show respect by their timeliness and preparedness, by taking students seriously, by valuing students’ goals and aspirations, and by providing prompt feedback.

In a productive learning environment, faculty and students work cooperatively, recognize and respect differences, model the values of character and citizenship, and become lifelong learners.

Class Attendance Policy and College Sponsored Activities:
Learning is central to our work at Kirkwood Community College. Faculty design educational experiences to facilitate learning, and students learn by engaging in those experiences. Attendance and engagement in all scheduled classes is regarded as integral to learning and is expected of all students.

Students are accountable for the learning outcomes for each session, including those sessions that have been missed, even if the absence is for a college-sponsored activity. Assessments of learning that occur during an absence may or may not be made up, depending on the policies of the instructor and the nature of the absence. Absences that result from participation in college-sponsored activities* will be accommodated, subject to the guidelines listed below. For all other absences, authorization of an excuse is the province of the individual faculty member and subject to the standard appeal process.

College Sponsored Activities:

Students involved in activities where they are required to represent the college, i.e., college-sponsored activities, must give written notice to the faculty member at least one week in advance of the absence unless last minute schedule changes make this notice impossible. If regular season athletic schedules have been developed, student participants must present written notice of anticipated absences within the first week of the semester. Failure to provide timely written notice may result in loss of this opportunity.

Faculty accord students the opportunity to independently make up course work or work of equal value, for the day(s) the event was scheduled or to take a scheduled exam at an alternate time. The faculty member determines alternate exam times and due dates for missed coursework. These assigned dates may be prior to the date of the absence.

Organizers (coaches, faculty and staff) of college-sponsored activities 1) assist students in planning class schedules to minimize the number of absences; 2) inform students of their responsibilities as described above; and 3) provide written communications to faculty announcing and verifying the need for student class absences. Students should check with the organizers of events they plan to attend as to whether this has been done well in advance of the event.

* College sponsored activities (excluding practices) include such events as athletic competitions, student academic competitions and conferences, musical and drama performances, and class field trips. Questions on whether an activity is a college-sponsored event for purposes of this policy should be directed to the Vice-President of Instruction. If anticipated absences for a semester appear to be extraordinarily numerous or difficult to accommodate, a faculty member may appeal the need for the full accommodation to the VP of Instruction.

Plagiarism Policy:
According to Webster, to plagiarize is “to steal or pass off the ideas or words of another as one’s own…to use created productions without crediting the source…to commit literary theft…to present as new and original an idea or product derived from an existing source.”

Kirkwood students are responsible for authenticating any assignment submitted to an instructor. If asked, you must be able to produce proof that the assignment you submit is actually your own work. Therefore, we recommend that you engage in a verifiable working process on assignments. Keep copies of all drafts of your work, make photocopies of research materials, write summaries of research materials, hang onto Writing Center receipts, keep logs or journals of your work on assignments and papers, learn to save drafts or versions of assignments under individual file names on computer or diskette, etc.

The inability to authenticate your work, should an instructor request it, is sufficient ground for failing the assignment. In addition to requiring a student to authenticate his/her work, Kirkwood Community College instructors may employ various other means of ascertaining authenticity – such as engaging in Internet searches, creating quizzes based on student work, requiring students to explain their work and/or process orally, etc.

Americans with Disabilities Act:
Students with disabilities who need accommodations to achieve course objectives should file an accommodation application with Learning Services, Linn Hall 133 and provide a written plan of accommodation to your instructor prior to the accommodation being provided.
