What should be reported as income?

Monthly Income:

List the income (BEFORE deductions) each person received last month and where it is from, such as wages, retirement, or welfare. (Part 2) If you have a household member for whom last month's income was higher or lower than usual, list an average monthly income by taking the income of the last several months and dividing it by the number of months. Kirkwood CE has the right to request verification of the information you supply at any time. Purposeful misrepresentation is subject to prosecution.

Types of income to report:

Wages	Interest
Pensions	Tips
Public Assistance	Workmen's compensation
Alimony	Disability income
Annuities	Welfare payments
Child support payments	Commissions
Strike benefits	Veteran's subsistence benefits
Supplemental security income	Retirement income
Salaries	Cash withdrawals from savings, investments or trusts
Unemployment compensation
Social security benefits

Do not report income from:

Educational benefits	Shoveling
Scholarships	Grass Cutting
Babysitting	Food Stamps

What if my income is not always the same?

List the amount you typically earn. For example, if you generally earn $1000 each month, but you missed some work last month and only earned $900, write down that you earn $1000 per month. If you routinely work overtime, include it, but do not include overtime if you work it occasionally.

Will the information I give on my application be checked?

Yes, we may ask you to send written proof.
